

Toward an Orthodox Community that is More Responsive to People with Special Needs

View PDF

Howard Blas is a social worker and special educator who primarily teaches students with special needs and circumstances in Jewish Studies and for bar and bat mitzvah. He is Director of the Tikvah Program at Camp Ramah in New England. Howard's work has appeared in publications such as The Jerusalem Report, The Jerusalem Post, and The New York Times. This article appears in issue 4 of Conversations, the journal of the Institute for Jewish Ideas and Ideals.